

Tabbed Folder Story Series Card Pack

Sixteen tabbed folder cards help writers keep one fictional story series steady across private paper pages by returning to characters, settings, clue labels, and page-turn notes.

Audience: Families, homeschool groups, tutors, and adult-led writing tables for writers ages 6-11.

Format: 16 printable tabbed folder story-series cards plus adult guide tools, series routines, take-home series slips, and optional adult prompts

Family-safe printable writing pages for adult-led, offline story practice.

$79

Included

- 16 printable tabbed folder story-series cards
- Adult setup guide
- Fictional story-series safety notes
- Tabbed folder continuity moves
- Family handoff notes
- Pack reset notes
- Six adult-led story-series routines
- Ten take-home story-series slips
- Eight optional adult prompts
- Printable PDF and ZIP artifact

Story-series coaching

Tabbed Folder Story Series Adult Guide

- Setup: choose one story folder, add three to five paper tabs, and label each tab with a simple story series part: _____.
- Materials: keep blank pages, pencils, tab cards, paper clips, and a folder note sheet nearby before the adult-led session begins: _____.
- Steps: help the writer place the current page behind the right tab, reread the last page softly, then plan the next page on paper: _____.
- Safety: keep every name, place, and problem inside a made-up story world, and do not place child work online or ask for private details: _____.
- Continuity: use the tab cards to track who is in the story series, what changed, and what the next page should remember: _____.
- Reset: when the session ends, tuck loose pages into the story folder, mark the next tab to use, and write one adult reminder for later: _____.

Use one tabbed folder story-series card at a time. Keep every choice broad, invented, paper-only, and screen-free.

Sixteen story-series-card worlds

Pick a world image, then check one fictional story draft with a pretend tabbed folder story-series card.

AGES 10-11
Chapter Gate Greenhouse

AGES 10-11
Binding Day Boardwalk

AGES 10-11
Index Card Theater Club

AGES 10-11
Margin Note Market

AGES 10-11
Revision River Ferry

AGES 10-11
Blue Pencil Observatory

AGES 10-11
Appendix Archive Lab

AGES 10-11
Clue Label Tower Museum

AGES 10-11
Compass Craft Academy

AGES 8-10
Seed Library Map Room

AGES 8-10
Tidepool Timekeepers Lab

AGES 7-9
Acorn Avenue Errand Office

AGES 7-9
Rain Boot Route Rangers

AGES 7-9
Buttonwood Library Train

AGES 8-10
Cloudberry Clocktower

AGES 6-8
Moon Muffin Market

Choose the tabbed folder story series routine

SHORT FOLDER START

Tab Check-In

- 1. The adult opens the story folder and asks which tab holds the current page: _____.
 - 2. The child points to the tab and names the made-up story series part: _____.
 - 3. The adult reads the last two paper notes under that tab: _____.
 - 4. The child chooses one note that must stay true on the next page: _____.
- Today this story folder tab needs to remember: _____.

PAPER CONTINUITY NOTE

Series Thread Card

- 1. The adult hands over one tab card for the story series thread: _____.
 - 2. The child writes the thread in a short phrase, such as lost key, moon map, or tiny boat: _____.
 - 3. The adult asks how that thread appears on the current page: _____.
 - 4. The child writes one next page reminder on the same tab card: _____.
- The story series thread we are carrying forward is: _____.

MULTI-PAGE ORDER CHECK

Folder Order Walk

- 1. The adult spreads the story folder pages in order beside the tabs: _____.
 - 2. The child taps each page and says what happened there in one short phrase: _____.
 - 3. The adult asks which page the new page should follow: _____.
 - 4. The child places the new page behind the right tab and writes the page label: _____.
- This new page belongs after: _____.

QUIET REREAD PASS

Last Page Echo

- 1. The adult reads the last page from the story folder while the child follows with a finger: _____.
 - 2. The child circles one pretend character, place, or object that should return: _____.
 - 3. The adult asks what changed on that last page: _____.
 - 4. The child starts the next page by echoing one small detail without copying the whole line: _____.
- The next page will echo this detail from the last page: _____.

PAGE-TO-PAGE PLANNING

Next Page Bridge

- 1. The adult asks what the current page leaves unfinished in the pretend story: _____.
 - 2. The child says one gentle question the next page can answer: _____.
 - 3. The adult writes the question on a tab card and places it before the blank page: _____.
 - 4. The child begins the next page with one sentence that answers or follows the question: _____.
- Our next page will answer or follow this question: _____.

CALM STOPPING POINT

Gentle Series Reset

- 1. The adult asks which page is done enough for today and places it in the story folder: _____.
 - 2. The child chooses one tab card that needs a reminder for the next session: _____.
 - 3. The adult writes a simple restart line, such as begin with the map or ask about the lantern: _____.
 - 4. The child closes the folder and names the next page idea in one paper note: _____.
- Next time, this story series can restart with: _____.

Try one story series later

TAKE-HOME STORY SERIES SLIP

Home Tab Label Slip

Adult: help choose a clear tab label for the current story folder section: _____.

Child: my tab label says: _____.

Next page: put the new page behind this tab: _____.

TAKE-HOME STORY SERIES SLIP

Returning Detail Slip

Adult: ask which pretend detail should return from the last page: _____.

Child: the detail I will bring back is: _____.

Next page: use that detail in one new sentence: _____.

TAKE-HOME STORY SERIES SLIP

Character Thread Slip

Adult: point to the tab card that tracks one made-up character: _____.

Child: this character still wants or needs: _____.

Next page: show one tiny action from that character: _____.

TAKE-HOME STORY SERIES SLIP

Place Reminder Slip

Adult: ask which pretend place should stay the same across pages: _____.

Child: my story place reminder is: _____.

Next page: add one matching place detail: _____.

TAKE-HOME STORY SERIES SLIP

Object Carryover Slip

Adult: help find one made-up object that should carry into the next page: _____.

Child: the object I am carrying forward is: _____.

Next page: let the object help or change something: _____.

TAKE-HOME STORY SERIES SLIP

Question Bridge Slip

Adult: write one gentle story question on a tab card: _____.

Child: my next page question is: _____.

Next page: answer the question with one story action: _____.

TAKE-HOME STORY SERIES SLIP

Page Order Slip

Adult: lay out the story folder pages and ask where the new page belongs: _____.

Child: this page comes after: _____.

Next page: write the page label before starting: _____.

TAKE-HOME STORY SERIES SLIP

Same World Slip

Adult: ask what rule or detail makes this story world feel connected: _____.

Child: one thing that stays true in my story series is: _____.

Next page: keep that rule or detail in the new scene: _____.

TAKE-HOME STORY SERIES SLIP

Small Change Slip

Adult: ask what small change should happen next without losing the story thread: _____.

Child: the small change I choose is: _____.

Next page: write the change after one familiar detail: _____.

TAKE-HOME STORY SERIES SLIP

Restart Note Slip

Adult: write one restart note before closing the story folder: _____.

Child: next time I want to begin with: _____.

Next page: read this note first, then write one new line: _____.

Optional adult prompts

- Optional adult-led offline prompt: the story folder tab we are using today is _____.
- Optional adult-led offline prompt: the last page detail to remember is _____.
- Optional adult-led offline prompt: the next page should begin after _____.
- Optional adult-led offline prompt: the story series thread on this tab card is _____.
- Optional adult-led offline prompt: one made-up character needs to remember _____.
- Optional adult-led offline prompt: one pretend place detail that stays true is _____.
- Optional adult-led offline prompt: the small change for the next page is _____.
- Optional adult-led offline prompt: the restart note for this story folder is _____.

Chapter Gate Greenhouse Story Series Card

Adult setup: Adult: place three blank pages inside the story folder, label one tab Greenhouse Gate, and keep all planning on paper only: _____.

Writer: build a quiet story series where each page returns to the greenhouse gate, one helper, and one clue that changes a little: _____.

Chapter Gate Greenhouse

Page one anchor
Page one anchor: write the first page so it names the greenhouse gate, the careful keeper, and the odd paper tag found near the glass: _____.

Setting return
Setting return: choose one greenhouse detail, such as a fogged pane, seed drawer, or brass latch, to return on every page: _____.

Page turn
Page turn: end this page with a paper-only reason to open the next tab in the story folder: _____.

Character return
Character return: choose one made-up character who comes back on each page with a small new job or question: _____.

Clue carry
Clue carry: carry one harmless clue from the first page to the next page and write how it changes or points somewhere new: _____.

Series wrap
Series wrap: on the final page, bring back the keeper, the gate detail, and the carried clue so the story series feels calmly finished: _____.

Quiet option: adult points to one tab, and the writer adds only one return detail on the page before pausing: _____. Take-home line: start another greenhouse story series in a story folder with a page one anchor, a returning character, and one clue for the next page: _____.

Binding Day Boardwalk Story Series Card

Adult setup: Adult: prepare a story folder with three or four tabs, one blank page behind each tab, and a small paper line for series notes: _____.

Writer: make each boardwalk page feel connected by returning to the same helper, the same walkway marker, and one clue that moves forward: _____.

Binding Day Boardwalk

Page one anchor
Page one anchor: write a first page where the boardwalk helper finds a loose binding strip beside a painted rail: _____.

Setting return
Setting return: choose one boardwalk marker, such as a painted rail, ticket nook, or tide bell, to appear on every page: _____.

Page turn
Page turn: finish this page with a quiet question that sends the helper to the next page tab: _____.

Character return
Character return: write the helper's name and one habit that readers can notice again on the next page: _____.

Clue carry
Clue carry: carry the binding strip clue into the next page and decide what new mark, fold, or note it shows: _____.

Series wrap
Series wrap: close the story series by returning to the boardwalk marker and using the carried clue to settle the helper's paper task: _____.

Quiet option: choose only one tab and write the repeated boardwalk marker on that page: _____. Take-home line: make a new boardwalk story series with page one, a returning helper, a setting marker, and a clue that reaches the next page: _____.

Index Card Theater Club Story Series Card

Adult setup: Adult: put blank pages behind the story folder tabs and add one small index card for the series clue list: _____.

Writer: write a made-up theater-club story series where each page brings back the same helper, room signal, and clue card: _____.

Index Card Theater Club

Page one anchor
Page one anchor: write the first page with the backstage helper, the folded curtain plan, and one index card clue: _____.

Setting return
Setting return: pick one theater-room detail, such as a chalk mark, curtain cord, or prop shelf, to return on every page: _____.

Page turn
Page turn: end the page with a choice that points to the next tab in the story folder: _____.

Character return
Character return: choose one club helper who returns on each page and write what changes about that helper's plan: _____.

Clue carry
Clue carry: move one index card clue from page one into the next page and add one new detail beside it: _____.

Series wrap
Series wrap: on the last page, bring the helper, theater-room detail, and clue card together for a calm story series ending: _____.

Quiet option: adult names one return detail, and the writer writes only that detail on the current page: _____. Take-home line: start a new theater-club story series with one page one anchor, one returning helper, one repeated room detail, and one clue for the next page: _____.

Margin Note Market Story Series Card

Adult setup: Adult: set a story folder on the table, add blank pages behind tabs, and leave a wide paper margin for series notes: _____.

Writer: use the margin to track what must return on the next page: the helper, the market detail, and the clue: _____.

Margin Note Market

Page one anchor Page one anchor: write a first page where the margin-note keeper finds a folded tag beside a ribbon cart in the market lane: _____.	Character return Character return: write the keeper's name in the margin and choose one action the keeper repeats on later pages: _____.
Setting return Setting return: choose one market-lane detail, such as a ribbon cart, bell post, or paper awning, to return on each page: _____.	Clue carry Clue carry: carry the folded tag clue into the next page and write what the margin note adds to it: _____.
Page turn Page turn: end the page with a small written signal that tells the reader which tab comes next: _____.	Series wrap Series wrap: use the final page to bring back the keeper, the market-lane detail, and the folded tag in one settled moment: _____.

Quiet option: fill only the margin note for one page, then let the story folder rest: _____. Take-home line: make another margin-note market story series by tracking a returning helper, setting detail, and clue across each next page: _____.

Revision River Ferry Story Series Card

Adult setup: Adult: put several blank pages in the story folder, label tabs for each page, and set aside one paper note strip for continuity marks: _____.

Writer: follow the ferry across the pages, keeping the same helper, river marker, and clue visible as the story series moves on: _____.

Revision River Ferry

Page one anchor
Page one anchor: write a first page where the ferry helper notices a blue revision mark on a folded river pass: _____.

Setting return
Setting return: choose one river marker, such as a dock bell, current line, or ferry post, to return on each page: _____.

Page turn
Page turn: end this page as the ferry reaches a tabbed stop that belongs on the next page: _____.

Character return
Character return: choose one ferry helper who returns on every page and write what the helper learns or changes: _____.

Clue carry
Clue carry: carry the blue revision mark into the next page and decide what it points to on the ferry route: _____.

Series wrap
Series wrap: on the final page, return to the river marker and use the carried clue to finish the ferry helper's paper journey: _____.

Quiet option: adult chooses one tabbed stop, and the writer adds only the ferry helper's return line: _____. Take-home line: start a new river-ferry story series with a page one anchor, a returning helper, a repeated river marker, and one clue for the next page: _____.

Blue Pencil Observatory Story Series Card

Adult setup: Adult: prepare a story folder with a tab for each page and place a blue pencil beside a paper continuity note strip: _____.

Writer: build an observatory story series where the same watcher, sky-room detail, and pencil clue return from page to page: _____.

Blue Pencil Observatory

Page one anchor
Page one anchor: write the first page with the observatory watcher, the blue pencil mark, and the first sky-room question: _____.

Setting return
Setting return: choose one observatory detail, such as a star wheel, dome latch, or map shelf, to return on each page: _____.

Page turn
Page turn: end this page with a note that points the watcher toward the next tab in the story folder: _____.

Character return
Character return: write the watcher's name and one careful habit that can return on every page: _____.

Clue carry
Clue carry: carry the blue pencil clue to the next page and add what the watcher notices beside it: _____.

Series wrap
Series wrap: finish the story series by bringing back the watcher, observatory detail, and blue pencil clue in one connected final page: _____.

Quiet option: adult points to the continuity note strip, and the writer fills only one returning detail: _____. Take-home line: create another observatory story series with one page one anchor, one returning watcher, one setting detail, and one clue for the next page: _____.

Appendix Archive Lab Story Series Card

Adult setup: Adult: place this card in the story folder, choose the appendix archive lab tab, and set out two blank pages for a gentle series plan: _____.

Writer: start page one, then use the tab to help the helper, lab setting, and clue return on the next page of the story series: _____.

Appendix Archive Lab

Page one anchor
Page one anchor: write the first page so the archive helper, the appendix shelf, and the lab job are clear before the next page begins: _____.

Setting return
Setting return: add one lab detail that can return under the same story folder tab, such as a paper drawer, margin map, or lamp label: _____.

Page turn
Page turn: end the page with a quiet reason to turn to the next page, such as a missing label, new drawer, or note under the tab: _____.

Character return
Character return: choose one helper who comes back on each page, then write the small habit or tool that helps readers know it is the same character: _____.

Clue carry
Clue carry: carry one gentle clue from page one to the next page, and write where it waits inside the appendix archive lab: _____.

Series wrap
Story series wrap: on the last page, bring back the helper, lab setting, and carried clue so the story folder feels complete: _____.

Quiet option: adult points to the tab, and the writer adds only one return detail for the next page: _____. Take-home line: continue a paper-only archive lab story series in a story folder by carrying one helper, one setting detail, and one clue to the next page: _____.

Clue Label Tower Museum Story Series Card

Adult setup: Adult: place a blank card behind the story folder tab and ask the writer to name one tower museum label that can guide several pages: _____.

Writer: use the tab to remember which museum helper returns, where the tower setting stays, and which clue moves to the next page: _____.

Clue Label Tower Museum

Page one anchor

Page one anchor: write the first page so the tower museum, the clue label, and the first helper job are easy to follow: _____.

Setting return

Setting return: choose one tower museum place that stays under the tab, such as a label stair, archive rail, or quiet map wall: _____.

Page turn

Page turn: end the page with a soft question about the label so the next page has a clear reason to begin: _____.

Character return

Character return: write one detail that brings the same museum helper back on the next page without changing the story series path: _____.

Clue carry

Clue carry: copy the clue label onto the story folder card, then carry it into the next page with one new thing it helps reveal: _____.

Series wrap

Story series wrap: finish by connecting the first clue label, the returning helper, and the tower museum place on the final page: _____.

Quiet option: adult writes the clue label on the tab, and the writer adds only one sentence for the next page: _____. Take-home line: keep a tower museum story series in a story folder by moving one clue label from page to next page on paper: _____.

Compass Craft Academy Story Series Card

Adult setup: Adult: set out the story folder, mark the compass craft academy tab, and invite the writer to choose one paper compass clue: _____.

Writer: write page one, then let the tab help you bring back the same academy helper, room, and compass clue on the next page: _____.

Compass Craft Academy

Page one anchor
Page one anchor: write the first page so the academy helper, the compass craft table, and the first direction clue are clear: _____.

Character return
Character return: decide how the same helper returns on each page, such as checking the compass card or sorting the craft strips: _____.

Setting return
Setting return: keep one academy place steady under the tab, such as a north shelf, folded map desk, or quiet practice hall: _____.

Clue carry
Clue carry: carry one compass clue from page one to the next page and write how it changes the helper's plan: _____.

Page turn
Page turn: end the page when the compass points toward a new paper sign, giving the next page a calm starting point: _____.

Series wrap
Story series wrap: bring the compass clue, academy helper, and return setting together so the final page answers the first page: _____.

Quiet option: adult circles one tab note, and the writer adds only the next page direction sentence: _____. Take-home line: build another paper-only compass story series by keeping one tab note for the helper, place, and clue on every page: _____.

Seed Library Map Room Story Series Card

Adult setup: Adult: place the card in the story folder, mark the seed library map room tab, and set out page one plus a next page sheet: _____.

Writer: start page one with a map room guide, then use the tab to bring the guide and clue back on the next page: _____.

Seed Library Map Room

Page one anchor
Page one anchor: write page one so the guide, the seed library map room, and the first map clue are all named: _____.

Setting return
Setting return: pick one map room detail for the story folder tab, such as a folded path card, drawer mark, or table corner: _____.

Page turn
Page turn: end the page with a small map choice so the next page can begin without starting a new story series: _____.

Character return
Character return: choose one guide who returns on the next page, and write one gentle action that belongs to that guide: _____.

Clue carry
Clue carry: move one map clue from page one to the next page and write where the guide keeps it in the story folder: _____.

Series wrap
Story series wrap: on the final page, return to the guide, the map room detail, and the clue that started the story series: _____.

Quiet option: adult names the tab, and the writer adds one map room sentence for the next page: _____. Take-home line: keep a paper-only map room story series in a story folder by carrying one guide and one clue to the next page: _____.

Tidepool Timekeepers Lab Story Series Card

Adult setup: Adult: set the story folder open to the tidepool timekeepers lab tab and place page one beside a next page sheet: _____.

Writer: write page one, then use the tab to help the same lab helper, tidepool place, and clue return on the next page: _____.

Tidepool Timekeepers Lab

Page one anchor
Page one anchor: write page one so the lab helper, tidepool work spot, and first clue are easy to find later: _____.

Setting return
Setting return: add one tidepool lab detail to the tab, such as a shell tray, waterline card, or sand map mark: _____.

Page turn
Page turn: end the page with a quiet tide mark or lab note that invites the next page to continue the same story series: _____.

Character return
Character return: choose the helper who comes back on the next page, and write one small job the helper keeps doing: _____.

Clue carry
Clue carry: carry one clue from page one to the next page and write how the helper keeps it connected to the lab work: _____.

Series wrap
Story series wrap: finish by returning to the tidepool lab detail, the same helper, and the clue from the first page: _____.

Quiet option: adult points to the story folder tab, and the writer writes only one clue sentence for the next page: _____. Take-home line: continue a paper-only tidepool lab story series by using a tab to carry one helper, one place, and one clue page by page: _____.

Acorn Avenue Errand Office Story Series Card

Adult setup: Adult: keep the work private and offline, place this card in a story folder tab, and choose page one for a made-up errand-office task: _____.

Writer: with the adult, write page one, then use the same tab to help the next page remember what returns: _____.

Acorn Avenue Errand Office

Page one anchor
Adult asks: On page one, name the errand office, the first errand slip, and the tab where this story series belongs: _____.

Character return
Adult asks: Choose one errand helper who must return on the next page and write one thing they always carry: _____.

Setting return
Adult asks: Pick one Acorn Avenue place, such as the tiny desk or the acorn-stamp shelf, that will return in the story folder: _____.

Clue carry
Adult asks: Carry one small paper clue from page to next page, such as a stamped acorn mark or folded note: _____.

Page turn
Adult asks: At the bottom of the page, write a next page promise that tells what the helper will check under this tab: _____.

Series wrap
Adult asks: After several pages, reread the story series and circle where the helper, office place, and paper clue stayed connected: _____.

Quiet option: write page one and one next page note inside the story folder tab: _____. Folder line: keep the Acorn Avenue pages together under one tab and add a new errand clue on paper: _____.

Rain Boot Route Rangers Story Series Card

Adult setup: Adult: keep the work offline, label one story folder tab for the rangers, and set out two blank pages: _____.

Writer: with the adult, make page one for the ranger team, then let the next page continue the same paper trail: _____.

Rain Boot Route Rangers

Page one anchor

Adult asks: On page one, introduce the rain-boot rangers, their pretend path, and the story folder tab name: _____.

Setting return

Adult asks: Choose one rainy path spot, such as a boot rack bridge or puddle-marker post, to return on the next page: _____.

Page turn

Adult asks: Write a next page line that tells which clue the rangers will follow when they open this tab again: _____.

Character return

Adult asks: Pick one ranger who returns on every page and write one steady habit, tool, or careful signal: _____.

Clue carry

Adult asks: Carry one paper clue forward, such as a drawn boot print, ribbon mark, or bent leaf sign: _____.

Series wrap

Adult asks: Reread the pages in the story folder and mark how the ranger, rainy spot, and clue made one story series: _____.

Quiet option: write only the ranger name, one rainy spot, and one next page clue: _____. Folder line: add one more Rain Boot Route Rangers page under the same tab with a returning clue: _____.

Buttonwood Library Train Story Series Card

Adult setup: Adult: keep the work private and offline, label a story folder tab, and place page one beside a pencil: _____.

Writer: with the adult, begin the library train page, then use the tab to keep the next page connected: _____.

Buttonwood Library Train

Page one anchor
Adult asks: On page one, name the Buttonwood Library Train, one rider, and the folder tab that will hold the story series: _____.

Character return
Adult asks: Choose one rider, conductor, or shelf helper who returns on the next page and write their small job: _____.

Setting return
Adult asks: Pick one train place, such as the buttonwood bench car or the quiet card table, that returns in the story folder: _____.

Clue carry
Adult asks: Carry one clue from page to next page, such as a brass button ticket, bookmark slip, or tiny track mark: _____.

Page turn
Adult asks: Write a next page line that tells where the train will stop when this tab opens again: _____.

Series wrap
Adult asks: At the end of the story series, point to the pages where the rider, train place, and clue stayed together: _____.

Quiet option: draw the tab label, then write one rider sentence and one next page stop: _____.

Folder line: keep the Buttonwood Library Train pages under one tab and add a new paper stop later: _____.

Cloudberry Clocktower Story Series Card

Adult setup: Adult: keep the work private and offline, label a story folder tab, and choose the first clocktower page to start: _____.

Writer: with the adult, make each page connect to the page before it so the story series feels continuous on paper: _____.

Cloudberry Clocktower

Page one anchor Adult asks: On page one, set the Cloudberry Clocktower scene, name the main character, and write the tab title: _____.	Character return Adult asks: Decide what the main character notices each time they return, then add that reminder to the next page: _____.
Setting return Adult asks: Choose one clocktower detail, such as the cloud bell, stair window, or minute hand mark, to repeat across pages: _____.	Clue carry Adult asks: Carry one clue forward, such as a paper gear sketch or cloud-shaped note, and write how it changes on the next page: _____.
Page turn Adult asks: End the page with a next page question that belongs under this tab and points toward the carried clue: _____.	Series wrap Adult asks: Reread the story folder pages and underline where the character, clocktower detail, and clue made one story series: _____.

Quiet option: write one page one anchor and one next page question under the same tab: _____. Folder line: add another Cloudberry Clocktower page that brings back the same character and clue: _____.

Moon Muffin Market Story Series Card

Adult setup: Adult: keep the work private and offline, place this card under a story folder tab, and give the child one blank page: _____.

Writer: with the adult, write page one about the moonlit market, then save the next page idea under the same tab: _____.

Moon Muffin Market

Page one anchor Adult asks: On page one, name the Moon Muffin Market, one helper, and the story folder tab that keeps the pages together: _____.	Character return Adult asks: Choose one market helper who comes back on the next page and write one kind job they do with paper signs: _____.
Setting return Adult asks: Pick one moonlit stall detail, such as a silver bell, folded awning, or star tag, to return on the next page: _____.	Clue carry Adult asks: Carry one pretend clue from page to next page, such as a crescent token, paper label, or tiny lantern mark: _____.
Page turn Adult asks: Write a next page line that tells what the helper will check when this tab opens again: _____.	Series wrap Adult asks: Reread the story series pages and tap where the helper, market place, and paper clue show up again: _____.

Quiet option: write one helper sentence and one next page clue for the story folder: _____.

Folder line: keep the Moon Muffin Market pages under one tab and add another gentle paper clue later: _____.