

Spiral Notebook Story Final Copy Card Pack

Sixteen spiral notebook cards help writers copy one fictional story page while carrying over the opening, useful details, sentence breaks, dialogue, and one final-copy pencil note.

Audience: Families, homeschool groups, tutors, and adult-led writing tables for writers ages 6-11.

Format: 16 printable spiral notebook final-copy cards plus adult guide tools, final-copy routines, take-home final-copy slips, and optional prompts

Family-safe printable writing pages for adult-led, offline story practice.

$77

Included

- 16 printable spiral notebook final-copy cards
- Adult setup guide
- Fictional final-copy safety notes
- Spiral notebook copying moves
- Family handoff notes
- Pack reset notes
- Six adult-led final-copy routines
- Ten take-home final-copy slips
- Eight optional prompts
- Printable PDF and ZIP artifact

Story final-copy coaching

Spiral Notebook Story Final Copy Adult Guide

- Print the spiral notebook final copy cards, take-home slips, and adult guide pages before the adult-led paper session.
- Start with one fictional revised draft, then guide the writer through title, first line, paragraph spacing, careful copying, gentle rereading, and final note work.
- Keep every example invented, family-friendly, offline, paper-only, and guided by an adult.
- Use the spiral notebook page as the clean copy space, with pencil marks kept light and easy to follow.
- Keep all names, places, and objects inside the pretend story world so no private details are needed.
- Finish by having the writer choose one proud sentence and one next-story note on paper.

Use one spiral notebook story final-copy card at a time. Keep every choice broad, invented, paper-only, and screen-free.

Sixteen final-copy-card worlds

Pick a world image, then check one fictional story draft with a pretend spiral notebook final-copy card.

AGES 6-8
Moon Muffin Market

AGES 7-9
Buttonwood Library Train

AGES 7-9
Button Bakery Map Mix-Up

AGES 7-8
Teacup Town Weather Window

AGES 7-9
Spoon Ferry Lunchbox Harbor

AGES 7-9
Pocket Park Notice Board

AGES 8-10
Moss Message Observatory

AGES 10-11
Revision River Ferry

AGES 8-10
Tiny Lantern Reef

AGES 7-8
Mitten Market Lost Ticket

AGES 7-9
Paperclip Plaza Parcel Day

AGES 7-9
Penny Path Compass Shop

AGES 8-10
Pantry Measurement Mystery

AGES 8-10
Compost Clock Workshop

AGES 10-11
Almost Invention Workshop

AGES 10-11
Blue Pencil Observatory

Choose the spiral notebook final-copy routine

Title Line Setup Helping the final copy begin with a clear title line on the spiral notebook page. 1. The adult asks which pretend story title belongs at the top of the spiral notebook page: _____. 2. The writer points to the title on the revised draft before copying it: _____. 3. The adult asks where the title should sit so the story page feels easy to read: _____. 4. The writer copies the title neatly on the first clean line: _____.	First Line Start Starting the final copy with a first sentence that matches the revised draft. 1. The adult asks the writer to find the first sentence in the revised fictional draft: _____. 2. The writer places a finger under the first words that will be copied: _____. 3. The adult asks what the first sentence should help the reader know right away: _____. 4. The writer copies the first sentence on the clean spiral notebook page: _____.
Paragraph Space Check Leaving enough space between story parts so the final copy is easy to follow. 1. The adult marks where the first story part ends on the revised draft: _____. 2. The writer decides where a small space or new line should go on the notebook page: _____. 3. The adult asks which next story part should begin after the space: _____. 4. The writer copies the next part with clear spacing: _____.	Copy One Chunk Copying a short piece at a steady paper pace without rushing the page. 1. The adult chooses one short chunk from the revised draft for the writer to copy: _____. 2. The writer reads the chunk once with a finger under the words: _____. 3. The adult asks which words the writer will copy before looking back at the draft: _____. 4. The writer copies that chunk onto the spiral notebook page: _____.
Gentle Reread Pass Checking the copied page against the revised draft with calm adult support. 1. The adult reads one copied sentence while the writer follows the revised draft: _____. 2. The writer marks any missing or doubled word with a tiny pencil dot: _____. 3. The adult asks what the sentence should say after the small fix: _____. 4. The writer makes one quiet correction on the final copy page: _____.	Proud Sentence Note Ending the final copy pass with a positive paper note and one next-story idea. 1. The adult asks the writer to choose one copied sentence that feels clear and strong: _____. 2. The writer underlines that sentence lightly on the spiral notebook page: _____. 3. The adult asks what the writer wants to remember for the next fictional story: _____. 4. The writer adds one next-story note at the bottom of the page: _____.

Try one final copy later

ONE QUIET FINAL-COPY PASS TITLE PLACEMENT Title Copy Slip Copy the pretend story title on the first clean line of the spiral notebook page: _____. Ask where the title should sit so the page is easy to read: _____.	FIRST-LINE COPY PASS FIRST SENTENCE COPY First Sentence Slip Find the first sentence in the revised draft, then copy it onto the clean page: _____. Ask what the first sentence helps the reader know: _____.
SMALL-CHUNK COPY PASS CAREFUL COPYING Chunk Copy Slip Copy one short story chunk from the revised draft onto the spiral notebook page: _____. Ask which words the writer will copy before looking back: _____.	PAGE-SPACING PASS PARAGRAPH SPACING Spacing Slip Leave a clear space or new line where the next story part begins: _____. Ask which story part should begin after the space: _____.
GENTLE REREAD PASS COPY CHECK Margin Dot Slip Put a tiny pencil dot beside one place to revisit on the copied page: _____. Ask what that sentence should say after the small fix: _____.	QUIET LINE CHECK WORD MATCH Missing Word Slip Compare one copied line with the revised draft and add any missing word: _____. Ask which draft word belongs in the copied line: _____.
ONE-LINE CLEANUP PASS WORD CLEANUP Doubled Word Slip Find one doubled word on the copied page and cross out only the extra word: _____. Ask how the sentence reads after the extra word comes out: _____.	ENDING COPY PASS ENDING COPY Clear Ending Slip Copy the final sentence from the revised draft onto the notebook page: _____. Ask how the ending lets the reader know the story is finished: _____.
PROUD-SENTENCE PASS SENTENCE CHOICE Proud Sentence Slip Lightly underline one copied sentence that feels clear and strong: _____. Ask why that sentence is a good one to keep: _____.	PAPER NOTE PASS NEXT-STORY REFLECTION Next Story Note Slip Write one note at the bottom of the page for the next fictional story: _____. Ask what the writer wants to remember next time: _____.

Optional adult prompts

- Optional adult-led offline prompt: the title I will copy is _____.
- Optional adult-led offline prompt: the first sentence starts with _____.
- Optional adult-led offline prompt: the short chunk I will copy next is _____.
- Optional adult-led offline prompt: the place where I need a new line or space is _____.
- Optional adult-led offline prompt: one copied line I will reread is _____.
- Optional adult-led offline prompt: one tiny pencil fix I can make is _____.
- Optional adult-led offline prompt: the sentence I feel proud of is _____.
- Optional adult-led offline prompt: my next-story paper note is _____.

Moon Muffin Market Final Copy Card

Adult setup: Adult: set a draft page, a clean spiral notebook page, and this card on the table before the writer copies the moon-market story offline on paper:

Writer: copy the pretend moon-market story offline onto the clean paper-only notebook page, moving slowly enough to keep each sentence easy to read:

Moon Muffin Market

Opening copy Opening copy: copy the first sentence so the reader meets the market helper and the moonlit stall right away: _____ _____	Neat copy Neat copy: leave a small space between words and keep each notebook line calm from left to right: _____ _____
Detail transfer Detail transfer: bring over two helpful details from the draft, such as the silver awning, crumb map, or bell tag: _____ _____	Sentence boundary Sentence boundary: check each sentence for a starting capital and an ending mark before copying the next one: _____ _____
Dialogue copy Dialogue copy: if a made-up helper speaks, copy the talking words inside quotation marks and add who says them: _____ _____	Final-copy check Final copy check: reread the notebook page and mark one place where the final copy is clear enough to keep: _____ _____

Quiet option: adult points to one sentence, and the writer copies only that sentence onto the clean offline paper page: _____. Take-home line: copy another short pretend moon-market draft onto spiral notebook paper with one opening, two details, and clean sentence ends: _____.

Buttonwood Library Train Final Copy Card

Adult setup: Adult: place the library-train draft beside a clean spiral notebook page and choose the pencil the writer will use offline: _____.

Writer: copy the pretend library-train story offline on paper only so the helper, train place, and ending all stay in the same order: _____.

Buttonwood Library Train

Opening copy Opening copy: copy an opening sentence that names the train helper and hints at the shelf or ticket problem: _____.	Neat copy Neat copy: keep the notebook lines steady and leave space after each ending mark before the next sentence begins: _____.
Detail transfer Detail transfer: copy two useful train details from the draft, such as a button shelf, paper ticket, or question card: _____.	Sentence boundary Sentence boundary: touch each sentence end with the pencil, then copy the next sentence only after the mark is clear: _____.
Dialogue copy Dialogue copy: copy any pretend train talk with quotation marks and a simple tag, such as said the helper: _____.	Final-copy check Final copy check: reread the final page and underline one sentence that helps the library train story make sense: _____.

Quiet option: adult covers part of the draft, and the writer copies one short section onto offline notebook paper: _____. Take-home line: copy another pretend library-train draft with the opening, train details, sentence marks, and dialogue marks kept clear: _____.

Button Bakery Map Mixup Final Copy Card

Adult setup:

Adult: set out the pretend map-mixup draft and one clean spiral notebook page for quiet offline paper-only copying: _____.

Writer:

Writer: copy the made-up map story offline on paper only so the first clue, next turn, and final fix stay easy to follow: _____.

Button Bakery Map Mix-Up

Opening copy Opening copy: copy the first sentence with the map helper, the button marker, and the mixed-up clue: _____.	Neat copy Neat copy: copy each line with even word spaces and keep the margin clear for a small check mark: _____.
Detail transfer Detail transfer: carry over two draft details, such as a ribbon path, paper button marker, or crumb-shaped dot: _____.	Sentence boundary Sentence boundary: make sure each copied sentence starts clearly and ends before the next map clue begins: _____.
Dialogue copy Dialogue copy: if two made-up helpers talk, copy only the important words and show who says each line: _____.	Final-copy check Final copy check: reread the clean page and mark one copied map detail that helps the mixup feel finished: _____.

Quiet option: adult chooses one map clue sentence, and the writer copies only that sentence on offline paper: _____. Take-home line: copy another pretend map-mixup draft with neat lines, kept clues, clear sentence ends, and careful dialogue marks: _____.

Teacup Town Weather Window Final Copy Card

Adult setup: Adult: place the pretend weather-window draft beside a clean notebook page and keep the work offline with pencil and paper: _____.

Writer: copy the weather-window story offline on paper only so the watcher, window place, and gentle change stay clear on the final page: _____.

Teacup Town Weather Window

Opening copy
Opening copy: copy the first sentence so it shows who is watching and what appears at the window:
_____.

Neat copy
Neat copy: copy with careful spaces, and start a fresh line if the sentence needs more space:
_____.

Detail transfer
Detail transfer: copy two pretend window details, such as a cloud tag, cup sill, tiny flag, or paper band:
_____.

Sentence boundary
Sentence boundary: check that each sentence has one complete thought before the next weather-window moment begins: _____.

Dialogue copy
Dialogue copy: copy any pretend talking words with quotation marks and keep the speaker name close by: _____.

Final-copy check
Final copy check: reread the clean page and put a small pencil mark beside one sentence that is easy to follow: _____.

Quiet option: adult points to the opening, and the writer copies only the first sentence on offline paper: _____.

Take-home line: copy another pretend weather-window draft with a clear opening, two kept details, and tidy sentence endings: _____.

Spoon Ferry Lunchbox Harbor Final Copy Card

Adult setup: Adult: set a pretend harbor draft, a clean spiral notebook page, and a pencil where the writer can copy offline on paper: _____.

Writer: copy the harbor story offline on paper only so the ferry helper, paper dock, and ending moment stay in order: _____.

Spoon Ferry Lunchbox Harbor

Opening copy
Opening copy: copy an opening sentence that shows the ferry helper and the harbor task before the ferry moves: _____.

Neat copy
Neat copy: keep each copied word easy to read and leave a little space between story parts: _____.

Detail transfer
Detail transfer: copy two harbor details from the draft, such as a spoon ferry, folded flag, paper wave, or dock label: _____.

Sentence boundary
Sentence boundary: check that every ferry action has a clear sentence end before the next action starts: _____.

Dialogue copy
Dialogue copy: copy any pretend dock talk with quotation marks and a short speaker tag: _____.

Final-copy check
Final copy check: reread the final page and circle one copied detail that helps the harbor ending make sense: _____.

Quiet option: adult folds the draft to show one paragraph, and the writer copies only that part onto offline notebook paper: _____. Take-home line: copy another pretend harbor draft with a clear first sentence, kept details, sentence ends, and any dialogue copied carefully: _____.

Pocket Park Notice Board Final Copy Card

Adult setup: Adult: put the pretend notice-board draft next to a clean spiral notebook page and choose one pencil for offline copying: _____.

Writer: copy the notice-board story offline on paper only so the board keeper, notice change, and final choice are easy to follow: _____.

Pocket Park Notice Board

Opening copy
Opening copy: copy the first sentence with the board keeper and the notice that starts the story:

Neat copy
Neat copy: keep the notebook line steady and leave clear spaces around each copied word:

Detail transfer
Detail transfer: copy two useful board details from the draft, such as a leaf notice, bench label, pin rail, or paper path: _____

Sentence boundary
Sentence boundary: check each sentence for a clear beginning and ending mark before copying the next notice moment: _____

Dialogue copy
Dialogue copy: if a pretend park helper speaks, copy the talking words in quotation marks and name the speaker: _____

Final-copy check
Final copy check: reread the clean page and mark one place where the final copy keeps the notice-board story clear: _____

Quiet option: adult points to one notice-board detail, and the writer copies the sentence that uses it on offline paper: _____. Take-home line: copy another pretend notice-board draft with neat lines, two kept details, sentence endings, and clear dialogue marks: _____.

Moss Message Observatory Final Copy Card

Adult setup: Adult: set out the draft, this card, and one blank spiral notebook page for a calm fictional observatory copy pass: _____.

Writer: copy the pretend moss message story onto paper with a clear opening, useful details, full sentence stops, and one tidy dialogue line: _____.

Moss Message Observatory

Opening copy
Opening copy: copy the first sentence so the reader knows who found the moss message and where the observatory waits: _____.

Detail transfer
Detail transfer: carry over two helpful observatory details from the draft, such as a pebble lens, moss chart, or signal shelf: _____.

Dialogue copy
Dialogue copy: copy one short spoken line from the invented watcher with quote marks and a simple said tag: _____.

Neat copy
Neat copy: use steady pencil lines, leave small spaces between words, and restart only the sentence you are fixing: _____.

Sentence boundary
Sentence boundary: check each copied sentence for a capital start and a clear end mark before moving to the next line: _____.

Final-copy check
Final-copy check: mark one opening, two details, three sentence ends, and one dialogue line before calling the page finished: _____.

Quiet option: adult points to one draft sentence, and the writer copies only that sentence into the spiral notebook: _____ . Take-home line: copy another pretend message story on paper, keeping the opening, details, sentence ends, and dialogue easy to follow: _____.

Revision River Ferry Final Copy Card

Adult setup: Adult: place the revised draft beside a blank spiral notebook page and choose one invented ferry crossing scene to copy: _____.

Writer: copy the ferry scene in order, keep the revised details, and make the final page read like one smooth paper version: _____.

Revision River Ferry

Opening copy
Opening copy: copy the revised opening so the river, ferry helper, and crossing problem are clear in one sentence: _____.

Detail transfer
Detail transfer: transfer three important draft details, such as the ferry bell, paper dock, current mark, or folded ticket: _____.

Dialogue copy
Dialogue copy: copy one ferry-helper dialogue line with quote marks, a comma before the said tag when needed, and clear spacing: _____.

Neat copy
Neat copy: keep margins steady, copy one sentence at a time, and use a single neat pencil fix if a word is missed: _____.

Sentence boundary
Sentence boundary: pause at every end mark and check that long ferry sentences do not run together: _____.

Final-copy check
Final-copy check: confirm the opening, detail order, sentence endings, dialogue marks, and last line all match the revised plan: _____.

Quiet option: adult covers the later draft lines, and the writer copies only the first ferry paragraph on paper: _____. Take-home line: copy another pretend river scene into a spiral notebook after choosing the details and dialogue that should stay: _____.

Tiny Lantern Reef Final Copy Card

Adult setup: Adult: set the draft and card beside a blank spiral notebook page, then choose one gentle reef-lantern moment for final copy: _____.

Writer: copy the pretend reef story carefully so each lantern detail, sentence, and dialogue line is easy to read on paper: _____.

Tiny Lantern Reef

Opening copy
Opening copy: copy the opening sentence so the reader can see the tiny lantern reef and the helper's first job: _____.

Detail transfer
Detail transfer: carry over two tiny reef details from the draft, such as shell steps, glow dots, coral cards, or a paper tide line: _____.

Dialogue copy
Dialogue copy: copy one short reef-helper line with quote marks and a new line if the speaker changes: _____.

Neat copy
Neat copy: write slowly enough for round letters, clear word spaces, and a steady line across the spiral notebook page: _____.

Sentence boundary
Sentence boundary: after each sentence, touch the end mark with your pencil and check that the next sentence starts cleanly: _____.

Final-copy check
Final-copy check: underline the opening, circle two copied details, tap each sentence end, and check the dialogue marks: _____.

Quiet option: adult chooses one lantern detail, and the writer copies only the sentence that carries that detail: _____. Take-home line: copy another pretend tiny-place story on paper with two kept details and sentence endings that are easy to find: _____.

Mitten Market Lost Ticket Final Copy Card

Adult setup: Adult: place the short draft beside a blank spiral notebook page and choose one pretend mitten market ticket moment to copy: _____.

Writer: copy the made-up market story with neat words, clear spaces, sentence ends, and one small dialogue line: _____.

Mitten Market Lost Ticket

Opening copy
Opening copy: copy the first sentence so it tells who lost the pretend ticket and where the mitten market begins: _____.

Detail transfer
Detail transfer: copy two helpful market details from the draft, such as a mitten stall, ticket basket, ribbon tag, or bell card: _____.

Dialogue copy
Dialogue copy: copy one tiny line a character says about the missing ticket, using quote marks if the adult models them: _____.

Neat copy
Neat copy: keep one finger space between words and copy only one short sentence before checking it: _____.

Sentence boundary
Sentence boundary: put a clear end mark after each sentence before starting the next one: _____.

Final-copy check
Final-copy check: point to the first sentence, two market details, each end mark, and the dialogue line on the finished page: _____.

Quiet option: adult reads one short draft line, and the writer copies that line only: _____.

Take-home line: copy another pretend lost-and-found story on paper with clear spaces and sentence ends: _____.

Paperclip Plaza Parcel Day Final Copy Card

Adult setup: Adult: set out the draft, this card, and one blank spiral notebook page for a paper-only parcel story copy pass: _____.

Writer: copy the pretend parcel story so the beginning, plaza details, sentence ends, and one dialogue line are clear: _____.

Paperclip Plaza Parcel Day

Opening copy
Opening copy: copy the beginning sentence so it names the parcel helper and the plaza job for the day:

Detail transfer
Detail transfer: keep two useful parcel details from the draft, such as a paperclip gate, label tray, parcel cart, or corner post: _____

Dialogue copy
Dialogue copy: copy one short line between two pretend plaza helpers with quote marks and the speaker's name nearby: _____

Neat copy
Neat copy: copy from left to right with steady spaces, then reread the sentence before copying the next one: _____

Sentence boundary
Sentence boundary: check that each copied sentence starts with a capital and ends before the next idea begins: _____

Final-copy check
Final-copy check: check the beginning, two parcel details, sentence starts and ends, and the dialogue line before closing the notebook: _____

Quiet option: adult marks one paragraph with a pencil dot, and the writer copies just that paragraph into the spiral notebook: _____. Take-home line: copy another pretend parcel note on paper with a clear beginning, two details, and one readable line of dialogue: _____.

Penny Path Compass Shop Final Copy Card

Adult setup: Adult: keep the work offline, place this card beside a spiral notebook, and choose one made-up compass-shop draft note: _____.

Writer: with the adult, copy the compass-shop story onto one spiral notebook page so it is ready to reread on paper: _____.

Penny Path Compass Shop

Opening copy
Adult asks: Copy the title and opening sentence so the reader knows the penny path begins in a compass shop: _____.

Neat copy
Adult asks: Copy slowly on the spiral notebook lines, leaving finger space between words and space for end marks: _____.

Detail transfer
Adult asks: Move two draft details into the final copy, such as a penny trail and a small compass shelf: _____.

Sentence boundary
Adult asks: Touch each sentence stop, then add one end mark where a sentence finishes: _____.

Dialogue copy
Adult asks: Copy one made-up quoted line from the shop guide and add who says it: _____.

Final-copy check
Adult asks: Reread the final copy on paper and mark one place where the opening, details, and quoted line all belong: _____.

Quiet option: copy only the opening sentence and one detail onto the spiral notebook page: _____, Notebook line: use the same final-copy steps with another made-up penny path story on paper: _____.

Pantry Measurement Mystery Final Copy Card

Adult setup: Adult: keep the work offline, set a spiral notebook beside this card, and choose one made-up measurement clue draft: _____.

Writer: with the adult, copy the pantry mystery into a final spiral notebook version that keeps each clue easy to follow: _____.

Pantry Measurement Mystery

Opening copy
Adult asks: Copy an opening that names the pantry mystery and the first odd measurement clue: _____.

Neat copy
Adult asks: Copy each line carefully, keeping numbers, labels, and clue words readable on the spiral notebook page: _____.

Detail transfer
Adult asks: Transfer two draft details, such as a mismatched scoop mark and a blank shelf tag, into the final copy: _____.

Sentence boundary
Adult asks: Draw a tiny dot under each end mark, then fix one sentence that runs into the next: _____.

Dialogue copy
Adult asks: Copy one quoted clue from the pretend pantry helper and add a tag that names the helper: _____.

Final-copy check
Adult asks: Compare the draft note with the final copy and mark the two clue details that made it onto the page: _____.

Quiet option: copy only the opening, one clue detail, and one end-marked sentence on paper: _____. Notebook line: try the same final-copy pass with another made-up measurement mystery: _____.

Compost Clock Workshop Final Copy Card

Adult setup: Adult: keep the work offline, place this card beside a spiral notebook, and choose one made-up workshop draft with a clock dial clue: _____.

Writer: with the adult, copy the workshop story in order so the final spiral notebook page can be reread on paper: _____.

Compost Clock Workshop

Opening copy
Adult asks: Copy an opening that places the character inside the compost clock workshop before the dial clue changes: _____.

Neat copy
Adult asks: Copy the final version with steady line spacing and clear end marks on the spiral notebook page: _____.

Detail transfer
Adult asks: Transfer two useful workshop details, such as a leaf gear and a turning paper dial, from draft to final copy: _____.

Sentence boundary
Adult asks: Check where each workshop action ends, then add an end mark before the next action begins: _____.

Dialogue copy
Adult asks: Copy one quoted instruction from the workshop helper and add who gives it: _____.

Final-copy check
Adult asks: Reread the final copy and mark where the opening, two details, and quoted instruction are easy to find: _____.

Quiet option: copy only the opening and one workshop detail before stopping the paper pass: _____, Notebook line: repeat the final-copy steps with another made-up workshop clue story: _____.

Almost Invention Workshop Final Copy Card

Adult setup: Adult: keep the work offline, set the spiral notebook beside this card, and choose one made-up invention draft with rough test notes: _____.

Writer: with the adult, copy the invention story into final form while preserving the best draft details on paper: _____.

Almost Invention Workshop

Opening copy Adult asks: Copy an opening that names the almost-invention and hints at what still needs fixing: _____ _____	Neat copy Adult asks: Copy in a steady final-copy pass, keeping paragraph breaks, margins, and end marks clear: _____ _____
Detail transfer Adult asks: Transfer three exact draft details, such as a cardboard gear, a bent lever, and a repair note, into the final copy: _____ _____ _____	Sentence boundary Adult asks: Find one long sentence, divide it into two clear sentences, and copy both into the final version: _____ _____
Dialogue copy Adult asks: Copy one quoted workshop exchange and keep each speaker tag clear on the notebook page: _____ _____ _____	Final-copy check Adult asks: Reread the final copy against the draft and mark one line where the invention problem reads clearly: _____ _____

Quiet option: copy one paragraph only, including one transferred detail and one clear end mark: _____ . Notebook line: use the same final-copy pass with another made-up almost-invention draft: _____ .

Blue Pencil Observatory Final Copy Card

Adult setup: Adult: keep the work offline, place this card beside a spiral notebook, and choose one made-up observatory draft with pencil-mark clues: _____.

Writer: with the adult, copy the observatory story into a final paper version that keeps the clues in a clear order: _____.

Blue Pencil Observatory

Opening copy Adult asks: Copy an opening that introduces the blue pencil observatory and the first sky-chart clue: _____.	Neat copy Adult asks: Copy with even margins, clear paragraph breaks, and readable pencil marks on the spiral notebook page: _____.
Detail transfer Adult asks: Transfer three draft details, such as a dome window, a blue pencil mark, and a quiet chart table, into final copy: _____.	Sentence boundary Adult asks: Underline one place where a sentence should end, then copy the corrected sentence with an end mark: _____.
Dialogue copy Adult asks: Copy one quoted line between two observatory helpers and keep each tag clear: _____.	Final-copy check Adult asks: Reread the final copy and mark where the opening, clue details, sentence stops, and quoted line are all present: _____.

Quiet option: copy only the opening and one clue sentence onto the spiral notebook page: _____. Notebook line: repeat the paper-only final-copy steps with another made-up observatory clue: _____.